Bombers were late. It is believed that one Bomber Group reached the target area at 1225 hours. All contact with bombers was lost at 1300 hours. Lieut. Westbrook called in at 1200 hours on "C" channel that his engine was rough. Accompanied by Lieut. Chandler as an escort, they turned around while at an altitude of 27,000' in the vicinity of Passau, Germany and headed toward home.

Number formation difficult to cover due to the great distance between bomber groups. Lieut. Harder damaged two ME-262's. Lieut. Mitchell and Capt. Thomas jointly damaged one ME-262. At 1310 to 1315 hours over Austria while en-route to base, five pilots of the 99th Ftr. Sqdn. strafed and damaged two locomotives and damaged three (3) freight cars. Capt. Campbell, Lieuts. Harder, Lewis & H. J. White landed at Falsongra A/F due to a shortage of fuel. Later, all but Capt. Campbell returned to base.

At approx. 1320 hours, 20,000 feet at 4708N-154E.
 Group Commander told escort to make passes at tail-gunners so as to recognize escort. This was executed by the fighter however, visibility at that altitude prevented bombers personnel from seeing fighters.
 Radio Security, Satisfactory.
 Bomber Formation, Satisfactory.

At 1105 hours, three (3) A/C of the 99th Ftr. Sqdn. were dispatched to provide escort for crippled bomber at 19,000 feet. The bomber was not sighted due to the hazy condition of the weather. Position at time of dispatching: 4732N-1325E. At 1130 hours, bomber formation leader called and stated that the bomber formation was not sighted. 4 A/C that landed at 1145 hours were low in gas and landed at E/F near Ancona, Italy.
